Career counseling services offered to Classes of 2000-04

The BSC Career Counseling Center and the Alumni Affairs Office are offering online career management capabilities for the Classes of 2000-04.

New opportunities include the ability to access full-time and part-time job postings from a site within the Birmingham-Southern website. Alumni may also upload resumes, making them available for potential employers to review. Employers also are encouraged to post their websites to make it easy for alumni to conduct research on their organizations.

Additionally, alumni are encouraged to post job openings that might be opportunities for Birmingham-Southern students or new graduates.

BSC graduates also may sign up for the BSC Mentor Program, a unique job shadowing program that matches students with successful professionals in the students' fields of interest. (In most cases, these alumni need to be local in Birmingham so that students can participate during the school year.)

For more information on alumni career counseling services, go to: www.bsc.edu/campus/counseling/career-alumni.htm.

Stirling lecturer—*Author, actor, lawyer, and humorist Ben Stein delivered the 2005 Alex P. Stirling Lecture on campus March 14.
