Birmingham-Southern College offers a variety of programs that allow you to study Sociology in an international setting.

University of Birmingham - England (UK)
Kansai Gaidai University - Japan
Hong Kong Baptist University - China
University Francois Rabelais — France
University of Limerick - Ireland
University of Fribourg - Switzerland
University of Belgrano (AIFS)—Buenos Aires, Argentina
James Cook University (TEAN)—Townsville, Australia
South Africa: Social and Political Transformation (SIT)—Durban, South Africa
University of Amsterdam (CIEE)—Amsterdam, Netherlands

Toucan Education Program (TEP) Internship- Belize

Preferred terms of study abroad:
- Sophomore year
- Junior year
- All summer terms
- E-Terms (PS299-Exploring Ghana: History, Thought, Culture, and Politics)

Learning outcomes of the Sociology major:
- Apply diverse theoretical approaches to understanding the relationship between human behavior and society
- Demonstrate critical thinking and understanding of our increasingly diverse and global society through the use of the sociological imagination
- Demonstrate effective social science research methods in conducting quantitative and qualitative research
- Employ effective oral and written communication skills

Application and Deadlines on the back
Application Checklist for Study Abroad

Deadlines: (Semester deadlines are 9 months in advance of departure)
- E-Term Contracts: Third Friday in October
- Fall: Last Wednesday in November
- Academic Year: Last Wednesday in November
- Summer: Last Wednesday in January
- Spring: Last Wednesday in April

- Complete the “Application for Study Abroad” on Engage.
- Complete the Scholarship Application on Engage to be considered for study abroad funding.
- Ask a faculty member to send Anne Ledvina (aledvina@bsc.edu) an informal e-mail stating your ability to succeed academically and socially abroad.
- Make an appointment to meet with Anne Ledvina (aledvina@bsc.edu/226-7722) in the Krulak Institute (suite 280/268) to talk about the next steps.

That’s it! Super easy!

Kate Johnson
University of Birmingham
“I got a chance to take classes that weren’t offered at my home university and really take a deep dive into things I’d always been curious about but hadn’t had the chance to investigate. I felt encouraged to research and find my own understanding of class material and take ownership of my own learning.”

Claire Anderson (University of Limerick)
“Just do it! Don’t worry about what you think you will miss while you are away. You will gain so much more. You are only young once and you need to live life to the fullest. Don’t be afraid, there are hundreds of other students doing this with you and you will be thankful that you did it!”